

Computers & Writing 2009: ONLINE 2.17-3.1

Ubiquitous and Sustainable Computing

IML Support for Second Life

The Institute for Multimedia Literacy offers support for establishing an account in Second Life so you may attend the Computer & Writing Online conference. You can send a note to an IML lab tech by sending email to: imllabassistant@gmail.com.

The IML will also be conducting 'drop in' training via Adobe Connect to help get you started in Second Life, and guide you to the New Media Consortium's excellent guides and support documents.

The service will be available:

Friday Feb 13th 2009
8:30AM-5:30PM
Tues Feb 17th
8:30AM-8:30PM

Instructions:

- Use your web browser to navigate to:
<http://breeze.usc.edu/iml>
- Type your name
- Enter as a 'guest'
- Enter the Room
- Wait for host approval to join the meeting.

If needed, you will be prompted to DOWNLOAD AND INSTALL ADOBE CONNECT SOFTWARE

Once you are 'in the meeting', an IML staff member will be on hand to provide you with:

- Links,
- Tutorial documents,
- Step by step demonstrations of the process.

NMC/Second Life 'Quick Start' Guide

Overview:

To attend and participate in the Second Life events of the online portion of Computers and Writing 2009, you will need to:

- Join Second Life
- Create an Avatar in Second Life
- Join the NMC Community in Second Life
- Teleport to the NMC Island in Second Life

How To:

1. The easiest way is to use NMC's web site:

<http://sl.nmc.org/join/>

Where you will be guided through all the steps, whether you need to start with joining Second Life, OR, if you are already a SL member and just need to join the NMC community.

2. You can also follow NMC's instructions from their 'Getting Started in Second Life' wiki page:
